

Formal consultation on the Scottish Government proposal to establish a National Park in Southwest Scotland by NatureScot

Bòrd na Gàidhlig welcomes the consultation process in relation to proposals for a new National Park in Scotland. The two current national parks both engage positively with the Gaelic plans process and, should it be agreed to move forward with a new national park, we look forward to working together.